

PAKO MATTHEWS

Executive Leadership Coach | Speaker | Facilitator

Helping leaders navigate change with courage, clarity and authenticity.

About Pako

Leadership has never been about having all the answers. It begins by asking better questions.

Pako Matthews is an Executive Leadership Coach, Facilitator and Speaker with more than three decades of experience spanning business strategy, leadership development, organisational transformation and executive coaching.

After building a successful corporate career in information systems, business strategy and partner management, Pako followed her passion for developing people and has spent the past decade coaching executives, senior leaders and leadership teams across the public and private sectors.

She is known for creating reflective, psychologically safe spaces where leaders are challenged to think differently, lead more intentionally and navigate complexity with greater confidence. Her style combines strategic insight, warmth, authenticity and practical wisdom, leaving audiences inspired as well as equipped with tools they can immediately apply.

The Phoenix Project

Reinventing Yourself Without Losing Yourself

Change is inevitable. Losing yourself in the process doesn't have to be.

In this deeply personal and thought-provoking keynote, Pako explores what it means to rebuild after disappointment, transition, loss, career change and personal adversity. Audiences leave with practical insights on resilience, identity and the courage to create a life and leadership journey that remains true to who they are.

Ideal for:

- Leadership Conferences
- Women's Leadership Events
- Executive Retreats
- Personal Leadership Development
