JOY KAAPU CONSULTING

expanding consciousness

About us

- The heart of our work is in human development and supporting leaders to expand consciousness so that they transform themselves, their teams and organizations by creating the space where people can show up fully and authentically by simply being the best versions of themselves
- We believe that work should be about creating an environment that invites the people to be fully present as complete beings by embracing diversity, inclusion and wholeness
- We support and empower individuals with tools to anchor strengths and talents in the journey of personal mastery

Reason for existence

- The core reason for our existence is to unleash and accelerate the power of humanity in the workplace
- We speak to the hearts and minds of people, help fulfil their hopes and dreams that ultimately foster meaningful human connections
- We help you engage with your whole self – head, hands, and heart – to discover and unlock your potential and lift your leadership to the next level

Our philosophy

Underlying the philosophy of how we work:

- We contract directly with the key sponsor and owner of the initiative, partnering with that person to ensure alignment of purpose, context and content.
- We look to identify 'root causes' through initial scoping and diagnosis phases – agreeing on the base line and the desired outcomes. The diagnostic engages all elements of the system that impact the desired outcome and may include context, organisational challenges and strengths, stakeholder expectations, dynamics and impact, individual motivations and drivers, capabilities and values.

Our philosophy

- We seek to address 'root causes' rather than symptoms' ; thus inquiry, diagnosis and measurement is important in our approach.
- We acknowledge the wisdom of the client and seek to leverage this through co-creating outcomes and processes with them.
- We see change and transformation as being about building awareness at the individual, team and organisation levels.

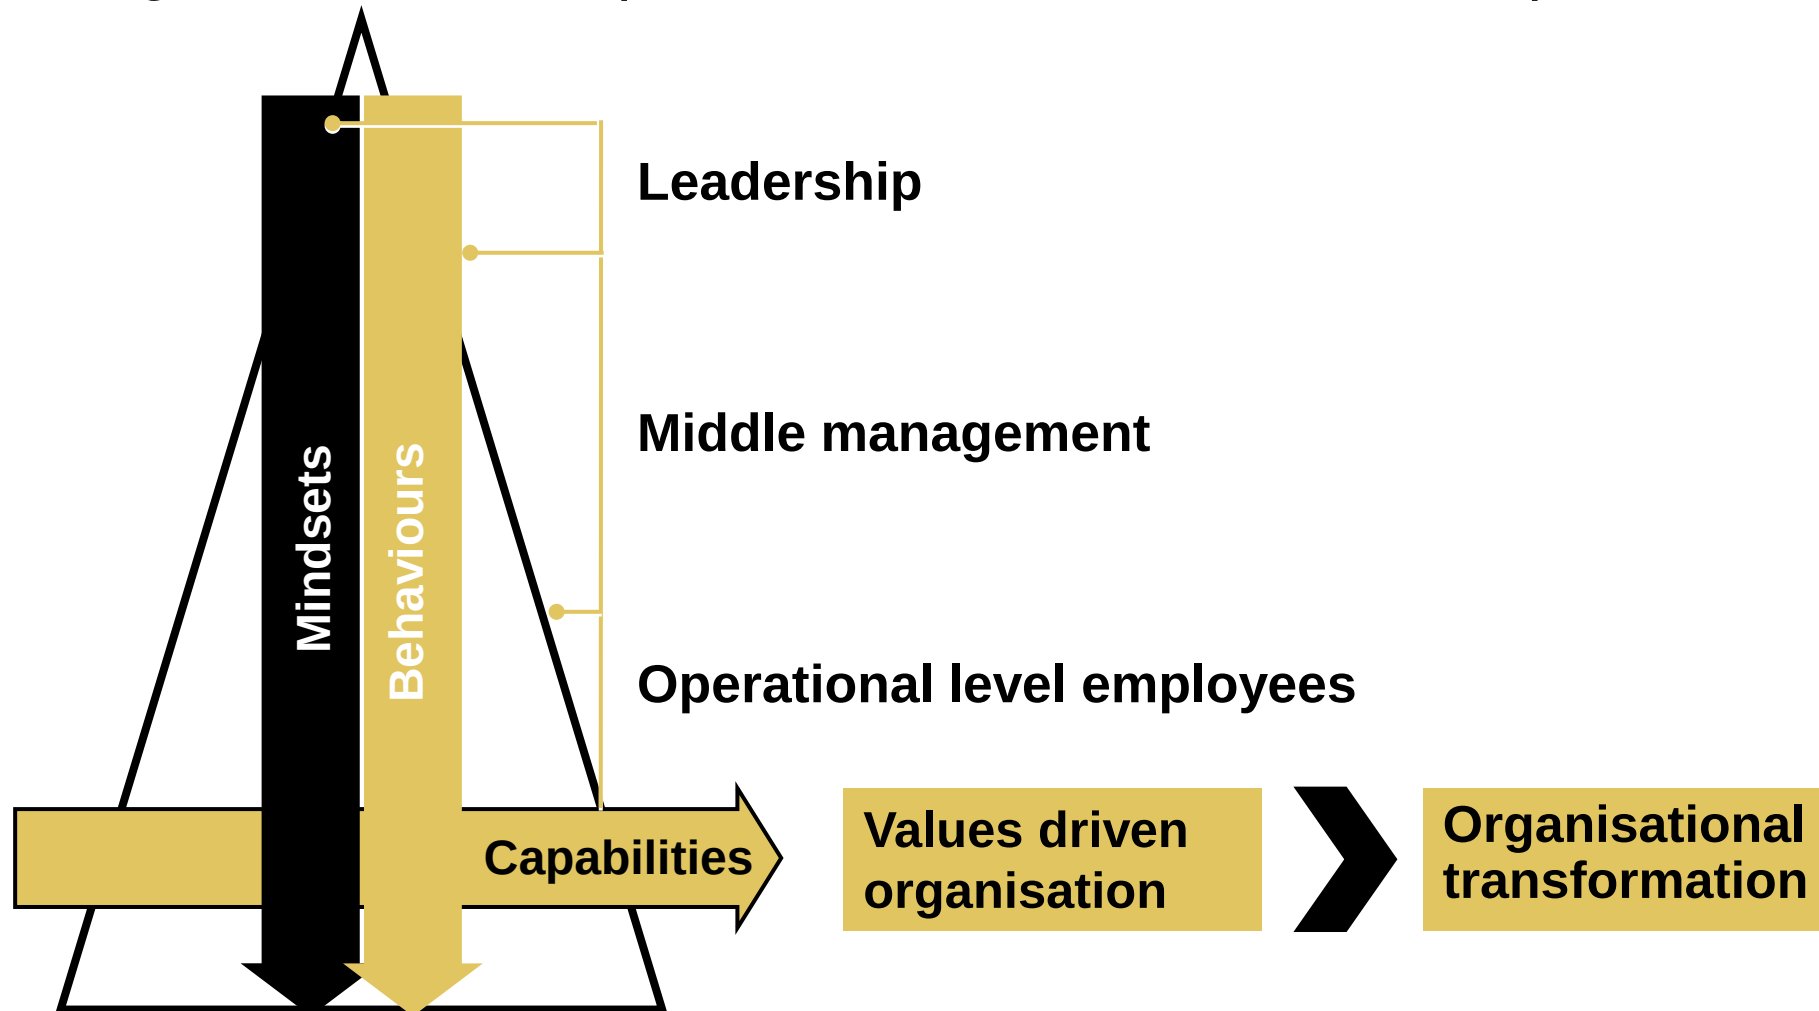

Our philosophy

- It is always our preference to work with 'real world' 'real time' challenges and content. It is through engaging with the real work of business and developing mastery with relevant material that the transference and embedding of new learning, skills and mindsets is most impactful.
- We work with 'field' and 'forum' principles.
- We partner with others who are aligned philosophically and whose skills, experience and capabilities / areas of expertise complement our own.

Our approach

Cross-cutting transformation process that cover critical concepts for:

She has been trained as a Facilitator of Transformation by McKinsey & Company and Gita Bellin & Associates in Provence, the South of France. Joy is certified as a Leadership Coach from The Co-Active Training Institute in Spain, Europe. Her academic background is in Human Resources Management, and she is also a certified Culture Transformation Tools Consultant from the Barrett Values Centre. She applies a holistic approach to business performance by helping organisations awaken the innate human potential in their teams which helps them to embed a thriving culture that drives sustainable success. Her approach to work is centered around Mindsets, Behaviours and Capabilities while co-creating with clients to shift root perspectives that brings about personal and organisational culture transformation.

Prior to starting her own consultancy in 2021, Joy spent 3 years with Pm-Ideas in Johannesburg, as a consultant in leadership training, learning and performance . Prior to this she was an external leadership facilitator and coach for McKinsey & Co, Connemara Consulting and SQN-Sinequanon where she worked with diverse clients from the continent of Africa. Joy spent 7 years with Anglo-American and held roles as Organisational Development Specialist and Human Resources Development Specialist. These roles included exposure to training and development in all Anglo American mining divisions (Coal, Gold, Platinum, Iron Ore, De Beers/Diamond and shared services) and leadership of large-scale culture transformation in Anglo Coal.

PPC appointed Joy as a Strategic Trusted Advisor and sounding board to the Quality in Leadership Guidance Committee for a period of 3 months. This journey commenced from October - December 2021. The scope of work revolved around successful and sustainable whole systems organisational culture transformation.

Joy has been involved in the Leadership Development at Super Group Mobility from March 2021-June 2023. The purpose of the program was to empower the employees to transform their way of thinking, behaving and performance; both in their personal capacity as well as at work, to become more effective leaders.

Joy was involved in the architecture and rollout of the Regional Leadership Development Program for MTN Uganda from June 2023 - September 2023. She facilitated the Regional LDP program in person and did online coaching sessions for the teams based in Kampala, Jinja, Fort Portal and Gulu.

Joy is a South African by birth and currently resides in Johannesburg. She consults globally and loves co-creating with clients beyond borders. My clients describe me as a catalyst for leadership development and organisational culture transformation. They resonate with the psychological safety I create while taking them out of their comfort zones to shift mindsets, behaviours, capabilities and transform cultures.
